Between ASEAN and China and recommends concrete and practical measures (including short-term, mid-term and long-term measures) to deepen and widen future cooperation. This book presents the proceedings of the Special Working Group Meeting held in Beijing, China on 26 January 2018. Themed '2030 Vision for ASEAN-China Strategic Partnership' (2030 Vision), the meeting focused on assessing the current status and future prospects of the ASEAN-China Strategic Partnership and how it can contribute to the goals of the United Nations 2030 Agenda. The intergovernmental, non-governmental and business communities were invited to participate in the meeting.

Strategic Rivalries in World Politics

International Strategic Relations and China's National Security

This volume presents a timely assessment of the Hu-Wen Administration at the juncture of preparing a change of China’s leadership in 2012-2013. The assessment is meant to contribute to the understanding of the economic and political changes that have occurred under Hu Jintao and Wen Jiabao's administrations, as well as to the prospects of a new era in China's domestic and international relations. The book is a tribute to Johan Jorgen Holst, Norway’s late Minister of Foreign Affairs. It considers the outstanding issues of our time: the high politics of East/West power, democracy promotion, China’s rise and the future of the world order.

Thinking Strategically about Politics and Poverty

Russia's proximity and willingness to use force exceeded the capabilities of the US' use of its global predominance to shape regional events. The historical record seen through Offensive Realism presents evidence illustrating that the US military has been forced to adjust its strategic notion in the region. The study of Offensive Realism can help us make sense of the new reality in the region and can provide guidance for the US's future policy in the region.

This Report contains a Consensus Report and the papers submitted to the April 6-10, 1995 NATO Advanced Research Workshop on Strategic Stability in the Post-Cold War World and the Future of Nuclear Disarmament, held in Airlie, Virginia, USA. The paper was presented at the workshop and the other papers submitted to the workshop are included in this volume.

This report represents a unique, comprehensive, independent source of analysis and advocacy of these options. The volume includes the Clinton administration’s National Security Strategy for a New Century, the most recent official analysis and advocacy of the strategic options for maintaining strategic stability and containing conflict.

The book reviews the recent developments in US-China relations and the prospects for the future. It is based on recent interviews with US and Chinese officials and the knowledge and experience of the editor.
